

Turf Day, 2002

Loveland, Colorado - Water Conservation District

Rick Allen made a presentation for me at my annual Turf Field Day in Loveland, CO which was held on September 5, 2002. His comments and presentation were very well received according to feed back that I received from the attendees. He provided valuable new information about an old concept that affects the landscape industry. There were approximately 175 participants, and because of the large gathering, he kindly made his presentation 3 different times so everyone had the opportunity to hear him and ask questions. I recently got to see a presentation made by him at the Wyoming Groundskeepers and Growers Association (WGGA) annual meeting in Casper Wyoming and I enjoyed it very much and took some notes from the things he shared that were enlightening to me.

I think he provides a very interesting presentation to help people understand more how Mother Nature works.

Sincerely,

Brent Mecham

Landscape Water Management

& Conservation Specialist

970-622-2324 desk

970-532-0942 fax